Celebrating over 12 years in business! Nanci Regnier is the president and owner of Regnier & Associates and a Senior Environmental Planner. In addition to her understanding of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), Nanci has extensive experience in all phases of planning, engineering, and construction for major transportation and transit projects. As owner and native Coloradan, Nanci infuses pride and integrity into all her business partnerships. Her 21+ years in the transportation and transit arena, combined with her experience in public involvement, project management, and environmental documentation, have shown to be unique characteristics in the field of public information and community outreach.

What sets Nanci apart is that, not only does she possess strong project management and communications skills; she is a seasoned professional with direct and relevant experience working on planning, design, and construction projects. She develops partnerships, manages expectations, and continually informs the project owner and public-at-large of project progress. Her project management, team coordination, and communications programs are creative, innovative, and effective. She effectively manages expectations, engages and informs, and promotes project success.

Nanci specializes in the coordination and facilitation of collaborative approaches to team partnering, public outreach and community involvement that build consensus among agencies and the community while guiding stakeholders to a collective decision or conclusion.

She has hosted, led and participated in countless partnering sessions, agency coordination meetings, project team meetings, planning and design workshops, public meetings/hearings, one-on-one property/business owner meetings, conducted press and elected officials briefings, designed and managed sizeable database management systems and have gathered, documented, characterized and responded to extensive public input for large transportation and construction projects.

Nanci's transportation and transit experience includes working with the Colorado Department of Transportation, Region Transportation District, Federal Highways Administration, Federal Transit Administration, Denver Regional Council of Governments and multiple municipalities and elected officials throughout Colorado.
